

Kiribati, one of the world's least developed nations, is set to receive some solar assistance from Australia. According to ABC Radio Australia, Australia has signed on with $4 million to help Kiribati generate renewable energy through the use of solar panels, on its main atoll of Tarawa.. Solar panels will be installed which will provide 15 per cent of the country's electricity.

The main power supply is from private diesel generators. Since early 1990s, Kiribati has developed solar energy with the installation of off-grid solar panels in the outer islands, which was then enhanced in 2005 under funding from development partners such as European Union and Taiwan Province of China. This led to significant results.
