My RV is a 2006 Monaco Knight 40DFD, and has four house batteries (6-volt deep cycle, two in series to make 12v, with both pairs in parallel to support the house) and two chassis (starter) batteries. Your diagram does not show which batteries serve which function, but their placement suggests you have three house batteries and one chassis battery.

Monaco Battery combiner. Hello from Dan. another sleepless night, so project time. I noticed our Monaco LaPalms XL electrical system had an awful wine in it. My guess is it interfered with the j1939 network.. with my handy dandy sniffer I tracked it to the mother board. on the mother board it has a sub board that controls the battery combiner ...
