Less efficient polycrystalline panels are typically cheaper at $0.75 per watt, putting the price of a 400-watt panel at $300. The cost of a solar panel also depends on how you buy it.

How much does a 400 watt solar panel cost?

Today's premium monocrystalline solar panels typically cost between $1 and $1.50 per Watt, putting the price of a single 400-watt solar panel between $400 and $600, depending on how you buy it. Less efficient polycrystalline panels are typically cheaper at $0.75 per watt, putting the price of a 400-watt panel at $300.

Why are residential solar panels so expensive?

Since 2010, residential solar panel prices have fallen by roughly 50% while US solar deployment has grown by over 2,000%. The slight rise in residential solar pricing from 2020-2023 is largely attributed to supply chain tangles from the pandemic.

Should you buy solar panels from a full-service installer?

If you purchase through a full-service installer, you will likely get a lower price for each panel than buying them individually from a retail store. It's worth noting (as we'll explore further below) that solar modules typically make up less than 20% of the overall cost of a home installation.

How do I calculate the cost of my solar system?

If you'd rather make your calculations offline, there are a few simple steps to estimate the cost of your solar system based on your electricity usage. To get started: Dig up some recent electricity bills (the more the better!) Divide your monthly consumption by 30 to get your daily electricity consumption.
