

Welcome to /r/Netherlands! Only English should be used for posts and comments. This rule is in place to ensure that an ample audience can freely discuss life in the Netherlands under a widely-spoken common tongue. Furthermore, content and discussions should contain topics concerning daily life in the Netherlands. See rules for more information.

Dutch food culture is kind of... Let's say plain, simple. It's not that you can't eat good food, but I don't take the opinions of Dutch people about food too seriously. We love to complain about everything (oh yes, I really love to, I'm very Dutch). Especially about small things that don't really matter that much.

6 ???&#0183; Netherlands is a country located in northwestern Europe, also known as Holland. The country is low-lying and remarkably flat, with large expanses of lakes, rivers, and canals. Some 2,500 miles of the Netherlands consist of ...

Discover the Netherlands, a country full of exciting adventures and hidden gems, where nothing's more than a stone's throw away. Explore a specific region, go for a city trip or get active with cycling or hiking trips - there's always something new to discover, from varied landscapes to rich heritage and exciting activities.

The Kingdom of the Netherlands consists of four countries, Aruba, Cura&#231;ao, Sint Maarten and the Netherlands - which comprises some 98% of the Kingdom's land area and population and administers...

One issue arising in almost every bit of legal writing is whether the name of the country should be styled as "The Netherlands" or "the Netherlands" in a given context. This is complicated by the fact that sometimes just "Netherlands" is used. The Netherlands is one of those countries whose English name is preceded by a definite ...

Granting it will see Flanders-Wallonia split into, well... Flanders and Wallonia, with Flanders becoming a Dutch puppet. Germany can demand the Netherlands join the Reichspakt in compensation, declare war to force the status quo, or ...

The Kingdom of the Netherlands (Dutch: Koninkrijk der Nederlanden, pronounced [ˈkoːnɪŋkrɪʔ dər ˈneːdərləndə(n)] (i); [h], West Frisian: Keninkryk fan Nederl&#226;n, Papiamentu: Reino Hulandes), commonly known simply as the Netherlands, ...

The Netherlands, often referred to as Holland, lies in Northwestern Europe shares borders with Germany to the east, Belgium to the south, and faces the North Sea to the north and west. The country encompasses a total area of approximately 41,865 km<sup>2</sup> (16,164 mi<sup>2</sup>).. Three primary geographic regions form the Netherlands: The Lowlands, The Veluwe and ...

Submissions to r/theNetherlands should be associated with the Netherlands, the Dutch people or the associated culture, and be of interest to the Dutch or people with an interest in the Netherlands. The reporting (or absence thereof) in Dutch media does not make the subject relevant to r/theNetherlands.

I read some posts about finding jobs in the Netherlands as a software developer, but nothing too recent that could satisfy my curiosity. Background: I am Italian, can perfectly speak English (bilingual), spent two years studying Computer Science at the University before having spent one year working for a company as a Full Stack Developer (so I do not have a Bachelor Degree on ...

The Netherlands (or Holland) is a country that is part (of a constituent country) of the Kingdom of the Netherlands. Most of it is in Western Europe, but there are also some parts in the Caribbean. Nearly 18 million people live there. To the north and west of the European part of the Netherlands is the North Sea, and to the east is Germany, and to the south is Belgium.

Content and discussions should be on-topic, involving topics concerning daily life in the Netherlands. Advertisements, antagonistic political debates, meta discussion and/or propaganda tangentially related to the Netherlands are not ...

The Dutch United Provinces declared their independence from Spain in 1579; during the 17th century, they became a leading seafaring and commercial power, with settlements and colonies around the world. After a 20-year French occupation, a Kingdom of the Netherlands was formed in 1815. In 1830, Belgium seceded and formed a separate kingdom.

In short. The total R& D-expenditure has gradually grown, from 5,041 million euros in 1990 to 21,620 million euros in 2022. Business funds a little over half of scientific research and development (R& D) in the Netherlands, the government approximately one third.

Discover the Netherlands, a country full of exciting adventures and hidden gems, where nothing's more than a stone's throw away. Explore a specific region, go for a city trip or get active with cycling or hiking trips - there's always something ...

Web: <https://www.triceratech.co.za>